PRODUCT CATALOGUE

FROM THE FORESTS OF INDIA, TO YOUR HANDS.

Across mountains, valleys and jungle cliffs - indigenous communities harvest wild honey and forest produce the way their ancestors always have. No shortcuts. No compromise. Just the forest, the people who protect it, and what they bring to you.

Last Forest, founded in 2010 in Kotagiri, Tamil Nadu, connects indigenous communities with global markets through eco-friendly, handcrafted products like wild forest honey, beeswax essentials, and forest-grown spices.

Rooted in Keystone Foundation's principles from 1993, we uphold fair trade and slow food values, preserving traditional knowledge and sustainable practices. Our work supports over 3,000+ indigenous producers, contributing to biodiversity conservation and local livelihoods.

Why choose Last Forest?

Choosing Last Forest means embracing the purity and sustainability of the Nilgiris.

Our wild, forest honey is ethically harvested from indigenous communities, offering rich, unprocessed goodness packed with natural enzymes and antioxidants—perfect for your well-being. Our beeswax-based personal care and food wraps provide a chemical-free alternative to plastic, promoting a greener lifestyle while nourishing your skin and preserving food naturally.

Every purchase supports forest conservation, traditional knowledge, and sustainable livelihoods. Choose Last Forest and bring the essence of the Nilgiris into your life.

Our Impact

Created by Last Forest

Indigenous communities constitute 8.6% of the Indian population - 104 million, which is the largest in the world. They are the last stewards of complex systems of biodiversity which hold the heritage of our planet. Last Forest Enterprises is committed to ensure that these traditional customs and activities continue to thrive.

Sustainably Harvested HONEY

Wild Origins Honey is gathered from India's forests using traditional, nature-friendly practices. Harvested from the Giant Rock Bee (Apis dorsata), this honey is raw, unprocessed, and shaped by wild blossoms and seasons.

The range includes multifloral and monofloral varieties such as Pollen-Enriched Honey, Wild Origins Honey and Jamun Honey, each with its own distinct character.

Sustainably Harvested BEESWAX

We ethically source natural beeswax from the Nilgiri forests. This beeswax is a by-product of wild honey collection, ensuring sustainable harvesting practices that support local ecosystems and indigenous communities.

The beeswax is unprocessed, preserving its natural properties and purity. By choosing our beeswax and its byproducts, you contribute to fair trade practices and the conservation of the Nilgiri Biosphere Reserve. Our commitment to eco-friendly packaging further reflects our dedication to environmental sustainability.

BEESWAX LIP BALMS
